

Lori Lennon, Director of Sales, The Clorox Company

Lori has over 20 years' experience in consumer-packaged goods with The Clorox Company. Her current position is director of sales, east grocery. Most of her sales career has focused on the club channel, specifically leading the Costco and BJ's teams. She also spent a few years managing Burt's Bees business in the drug channel. Prior to joining The Clorox Company, Lori spent seven years working for Kellogg's as an account executive.

Lori graduated from Babson College in Wellesley, Massachusetts, with a bachelor of business degree, with concentrations in marketing and communications. She currently resides in Massachusetts with her husband and four children. In her spare time, she enjoys horseback riding, biking, running, reading, music, and travel.